

GLOBAL MANAGEMENT EXPERIENCE – Spring 2016

A Global Perspective

In its tradition of applied learning, the Questrom School of Business increasingly combines classroom concepts with opportunities to experience the realities of managing in a global environment. The Global Management Experience (GME) is a valuable part of that educational program.

Course Enrollment

The GME course is a 4-credit Spring 2016 elective, with preference given to fully enrolled Questrom Juniors & Seniors. Enrollment in the course will be strictly limited to 24 students. You should not register for these courses. If you are accepted, we will register you on or around mid December. Please note that acceptance is subject to faculty approval.

Travel & Class Requirements

While travel itineraries for the Field Study portion is still being finalized, likely travel dates are between March 5 and March 12, 2016 and will include several preparatory classes (six before travel and one after your return). Please note that your passport must be valid through September 30th, 2016.

Financials

Pending University approval, we estimate that the costs will be $3,100 / person and will cover airfare, all airport-hotel transfers, quality accommodations (based upon double occupancy), motor coach, company visits, full group sightseeing, Visa and entry fees. Students will be responsible for selected meals (i.e., lunch and dinner) and personal spending money. If you are accepted into the course, to fully confirm your spot, there is a $500 deposit fee due – via check, made payable to Boston University. If you need to later drop the course for any reason, it will become non-refundable. For fully enrolled students, the $500 will subsequently be applied against the $3,100 travel fee.

Application Process

Applications for the GME will be accepted beginning on December 3rd. Students must submit an application form, resume and 1-page cover letter, indicating why you would like to be selected for the course, to gmeapps@bu.edu, no later than 5:00pm (EST), on December 11th, 2015. At 5:00pm, on December 11th, we will close the application period. Faculty and staff will review all applications to make the selection. By mid-December, we will inform all students of their enrollment status, and will keep wait lists, if necessary.
